COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE

BOMBAY MARKET REPORT.

THURSDAY EVENING, OCT. 30.

THE Banks have been closed to-day for the Mohurrum holidays, which have also interfered slightly with business for the past day or two, but irrespective of that cause commercial matters have been at their dullest throughout the week. There is no improvement whatever in the home demand for our export produce, the depression in which is best evidenced by the fact that steamer freights homeward have declined to 10s. per ton for Liverpool; even at that low price very little cargo is offering. In imports there is about an average trade doing from the bazzar, but that also is checked, so far as first importers are concerned, by the decline of ½ per cent. in sterling exchange which has taken place within the past few days. Money is easy and promises to be so for some time to come. Government Paper is quiet. Shares a trifle firmer.

Crop accounts are now more cheerful, the dry weather which has now fairly set in being good for Cotton, whilst the late rains which we noticed a week ago were favourable for preparations for the cold weather crops of Wheat and Seeds.

MONEY.—With the depression which prevails in gereral business the demand for money necessarily remains extremely quiet, and there is no symptom of rates of discount taking an upward turn for a considerable time. On the contrary, for the time being the tendency is rather the other way, and unless a material change comes over the position of our export trade we shall probably see cheap money until well on in the new year. The one cause tending in an opposite direction during the past two months has been the accumulation of Goods and Yarns on the hands of our local mills, and that latterly has not been on the increase, a somewhat improved demand for China having been apparent. We call rates of discount to-day 3½ to 4 per cent. on Government paper, and 5 to 6 per cent. on shares.

EXCHANGE.—Sterling has ruled very weak and closes to a decline of ¼ per cent. on our quotations for last steamer. For this mail we opened on the basis of 1s. 7⅞d. for demand Bank Bills, and 1s. 7 19-32d. for three months' Credits. It soon became apparent, however, that on this level the demand for remittance was considerably in excess of private bills offering, and on Monday when the Calcutta telegrams brought weak advices, we at once responded here with a drop of 1-16d. On this basis, say 1s. 7 5-16d., a considerable amount of Bank paper changed hands, and on Tuesday a further fall of 1-16d. took place; but yesterday, with Calcutta closed for the holidays and the usual indisposition to operate pending the result of the biddings for Council drafts in London, the market steadied slightly, and business being suspended to-day closing rates for ready bills are:—

Bank Bills on demand		1s. 7 9-32d.	per rupee.
Do.	Telegraphic	1s. 7 7-32d.	,,
Do.	Three months' sight	1s. 7 17-32d.	,,
Credits	4 do.	do. 1s. 7¾d.	,,
do.	Six do.	do. 1s. 7 11-16d.	,,
Francs	Three	do. 2·05½	,,
do	Six do.	do. 2·07	,,

We may, however, look for rates opening easier again to-morrow, the biddings in London yesterday having resulted in 11 lakhs of bills being placed at 1s. 7 3-16d. and 7½ lakhs of telegraphic transfer at 1s. 7¼d., tenders at both these rates having received 50 per cent. Bar Silver has not given way in like proportion, the quotation, according to Reuter, being still 50⅝d. ; per oz., at which it is equivalent to about 1s. 7 13-32d. per rupee and shipments are accordingly limited, yesterday's telegrams only advising £30,000 for this port, bought probably before the drop in the value of the rupee. No temporary steadiness in the metal, however, is likely to affect the market in the present absence of bills, and the necessity which Government are under to go on placing their drafts at the best obtainable rates, and low as we now are we question whether the turning point will be reached without a further decline.

GOVERNMENT PAPER.—The market was very firm the day last mail left, and Fours were quoted at Rs. 99 5-16, Fours-and-a-half Rs. 102¾. With the weakness in exchange, however, the London market for rupee paper has given way materially, and quotations here receded in the beginning of the week to Rs. 99 3-16 and Rs. 102¼ respectively, at which they remained until the close of business yesterday. Reuter's London telegram of yesterday though quotes a decline of ½ in Fours and ¼ in Fours-and-a-half which will probably induce a further drop here to-morrow.

SHARES.—For Spinning Mills the market, to begin with, was dull and lower, but latterly cheaper Cotton here and better advices respecting Yarns from China have imparted an improved tone and the market closed yesterday to quite an upward turn in the most favorite concerns. Our list shows a decline of Re. 1 in Anglo-Indian, Rs. 20 in Alliance and Rs. 10 in National and Victoria, but in most other companies the net result of the week's fluctuations has been an advance, amounting to Rs. 25 in Manockjee Petit, Mahalukshmi, and New Great Eastern, Rs. 15 in Khandeish and Sholapore, Rs. 10 in Framjee Petit, Morarjee Goculdass and Oriental, and Rs. 5 in Empress and Khutao Mackenzie. Press companies are firm and a rise of Rs. 35 is quoted in East India, Rs. 25 in Fort, Rs. 15 in Albert, Rs. 10 in Apollo, and Rs. 2½ in Mofussils. Bank shares are generally unaltered, Bank of Bombays at Rs. 760, Agras at Rs. 118 and National at Rs. 95. Amongst Miscellaneous concerns no movements of any importance have occurred. Port Cannings are Rs. 7½ higher. Bombay Ice Co. have improved Re. 1. Flour mills are all very firm, the exceptionally low price of Wheat being in their favour.

IMPORTS.

PIECE-GOODS.—A steady current offtake is reported from the bazaar, the clearances for the week being estimated at about 4,000 packages, but in the shape of indent business transactions have been confined to a very limited compass, the decline in Exchange and the continued weakness in Manchester deterring dealers from operating. Prices are the same all round so far as general quotations go, but these after all are not much of a guide as business is now done.

TWIST.—For English Yarns the market may be called quiet but steady at previous rates, the clearances from first hands being small. In local makes, however, there has been considerable activity, purchases to the extent of about 5,000 bales being reported mainly for China. Prices in some cases are just the turn dearer.

METALS.—Copper is a trifle firmer but not active. Prices are the same on the spot although rather more is being asked to arrive. Yellow Metal is quiet and unchanged. Iron is rather tending upwards owing to the rise in outward Freights an i Exchange.

COALS.—The market is very firm at Rs. 17½ per ton alongside for both Davison's. West Hartley and Cardiff early shipment, but there is nothing offering, the earliest arrivals offering being December shipment Davison's at Rs. 16-10 and Cardiff Rs. 16-12, some small sales of the former being reported. Bunder stocks are liberal, say, about 50,000 tons, but these will soon be reduced as there is next to nothing on the way.

EXPORTS.

COTTON.—Liverpool reports for the first day or two after the departure of last mail were dull and lower, but during the past three days have been steadier. In sympathy with these prices here declined about Rs. 2 to Rs. 3 per candy for a time, but have partially recovered it at the close being only in some cases Re. 1 lower, whilst Westerns, of which the crop is nearly exhausted, have actually advanced Rs. 3 per candy. Although the demand from Europe has not been active, there has been a very fair enquiry for Cotton here, especially for new crops for distant delivery, shippers taking advantage of the decline to cover previous bear sales. In this way transactions to the extent of about 4,000 bales are reported, made up mainly of Good Broach for March delivery at Rs. 208 to Rs. 209, Good Omra for March at Rs. 178 to Rs. 179, and Good Bengals for December at Rs. 144 to Rs. 145. Of old Cotton the purchases for export have been very limited, but the local mills keep very steady buyers of Dholleras and Comptas, and for the better qualities of these growths prices are well supported.

The movements during the week have again been very small both in the shape of Receipts and Exports, our figures as given below being only about half of the corresponding week last year.

NEW CROP.—The weather has now become more settled and favorable for the growing plants, respecting which reports are accordingly more cheerful. Everyday, however, makes it more evident that the season will be unusually late, and except of Bengals the shipments of new Cotton before the end of the year will be insignificant. As regards outturn there is nothing new to be said. The general opinion seems to favor about the same as last year, perhaps rather over than under, but it is still mere speculation.

The movements of Cotton to date show the following comparisons with the two previous years:—

Receipts.	1884.	1883.	1882.

WHEAT.—Home advices are, if possible, more depressed than ever, but lower freights and exchange are inducing a certain amount of business for export which keeps up rupee prices in the face of pretty free arrivals. We quote:—No. 1 Soft White Pessy, Rs. 25 to Rs. 26; No. 2, Rs. 24-8 to Rs. 25; Jubbulpore, Rs. 22-8 to Rs. 23; Khatao, Rs. 17-8 to Rs. 18; Ahmedabad, Rs. 21-8 to Rs. 22 per candy. The receipts give the following comparisons with the two previous seasons:—

	1884.	1883.	1882.
For the week.....cwt.	143,203	74,973	161,423
Since 1st January .... ,,	6,799,952	9,007,309	6,380,426

SEEDS.—Linseed has been in active request not only for October shipment, but also to cover freight engagements, and supplies being now down to very small compass, the price for old crop ready was run up from Rs. 6 4 to Rs. 6-14 per cwt., and closes to-day at Rs. 6-12, which is out of all proportion to home value. New Crop for April delivery is quoted Rs. 5-12 to Rs. 5-13 per cwt. The arrivals from up-country have been as follows:—

	1884.	1883.	1882
For the week.....cwt.	34,297	18,292	38,935
Since 1st January ..... ,,	3,884,377	4,047,682	2,995,854

RAPESEED is now almost out of supply, and the quotation of Rs. 6-14 to Rs. 7 per cwt. for Guzerat Yellow is quite nominal. New Crops for April delivery, however, is being dealt in at Rs. 6-13 per cwt. Gingelly is only arriving in small quantities yet, and the crop being adversely reported of especially the best qualities, prices have been advanced about Re. 1 to Rs. 2 per candy. To-day we quote White, Rs. 39-8 to Rs. 40; Mixed, Rs. 35 to Rs. 38; and Red, Rs. 35 to Rs. 37 per candy according to quality.

DEFECTIVE OR FAILING SIGHT.

THE sense of sight is so valuable that the importance of perfect and carefully adjusted spectacles can scarcely be overrated; although the wearing of single eye-glasses should be strictly avoided, we have the highest medical authority, confirmed by daily experience, that imperfect glasses, together with the haphazard plan of selection generally employed, are frequent causes of irremediable injury to the sight; and as no present economy can compensate for such a loss, it behoves all to be cautious how they are tempted to use the common pebble or glass spectacles now so generally sold.

For the guidance of those who are using pebble spectacles, it may be stated that when the pebbles are cut against the grain, and not polished on the principle which has been universally declared the most appropriate based on scientific research, they are injurious to the sight.

Unadvisable as the unnecessary wearing of spectacles undoubtedly is, the common notion that their use should be postponed to the utmost is proved beyond dispute to be a grave mistake.

Being in possession of all the optical instruments taken over by us from Dr. A. Menist, we are not only in a position to suit the eye sight to perfection, but to supply different accommodations for each eye which so frequently are needed.

The Bombay Gazette

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1884.

WE have more than once of late referred to the possibility of having before long to face the necessity of augmenting the defensive forces of the Indian Empire. This is not a matter, it need scarcely be said, which has to be urged upon the notice of the military authorities in this country. The truth is—or it is very nearly the truth—that the higher we go in the military hierarchy the more urgent and outspoken are the arguments heard in favour of an increase both in the Indian Army and in the British Army in India. We do not know that a time when the number of British troops in this country is 3,500 below the establishment—such was the case a few months go, at any rate—is inappropriate for asking; these arguments are well-founded. No one needs to be reminded that new conditions have lately come into existence which render it at least open to debate whether the army at was sufficient for the necessities of ten or even five years ago will suffice for those of to-day to, say nothing of those of to-morrow. It is not only politicians of the "Mervous" order who confess that the Russians at Merv and Sarrakhs—and we do not exactly know how much nearer they will be after the Delimitation Commission have done their work—we cannot rest so confidently within our borders as we could when they were on the other side of the Caspian. Every year brings the two Powers more nearly into contact in Asia, and it is neither fear nor hostility that has persuaded many of us that, with Russia as our next door neighbour, we cannot be content with the forces that sufficed when or league on league beyond our frontier there were only barbaric tribes, ill-organized and at war between themselves, with no element of cohesion and with no Power behind them ready to find on occasion the impuls and if need be the means, for vexing us. Other times have come upon us, and with them their needs. It is believed that Russia could now in little more than two months put about twenty-three thousand men into Herat, and that she could send ninety-five thousand men into Afghanistan, all of them regulars. Whether a Russian commander would avail himself of the uncertain service of irregular levies raised by the way may be doubted, but they would be available for him if he cared to make use of them. The numbers we have given have been arrived at after the most systematic investigation and calculation, and they must not be set aside as estimates swollen by panic. And even if they are left out of consideration, there would still remain probabilities so close approaching to certainties that we should be bound to take them into account—the probability, for instance, that Russia, having advanced so far into Asia, and having at her disposal almost unlimited resources in men at any rate, would take care to hold her frontier force. She will not be content with having mere outpost upon the Afghan border, and we may as well face the fact at once.

There are various ways of meeting the new requirements which new circumstances have created. A large increase of the British forces in India has been spoken of as one of the first steps that ought to be taken. That any proposals to that end would be strenuously resisted at home goes without saying, and it is doubtful if anyone who advocated them could gain even a hearing now that a public which can never think of two things at once is exercised by the discovery that we have scarcely a navy worthy of the name. Still, it may be suggested that the Imperial aspect of this question should not be ignored. The Government at home recognized it when, in sending Sir Peter Lumsden to join the Russian Commission in marking out a new frontier for Afghanistan, they instructed him to report, not to the Government of India, but to the Foreign Office. We question, indeed, whether any home politician would contend that the defence of our frontier was entirely a matter of Indian concern. England recognizes in nine out of ten of her acts of relationship with this country that India is a possession worth preserving and worth paying for, and if it be proved that a new strain has been put upon the military resources of India, England will only be turning her back upon her traditional policy if she declines to take her part in meeting it. When, however, estimates are put forward—as they have been lately—fixing at sixty thousand the increase which the British Army in India ought to undergo, we can only ask those who make the demand if they know of any method by which they can gain even a hearing for so large a claim. Meantime, there is other ground upon which those who are anxious to see the army in India strengthened may work with a better chance of success. Unquestionably there are military resources in India itself which are available for any reformer who has the wit and the opportunity for making use of them. We have not yet tried what an army reserve will do for us. We have not yet made anything like full use of the resources for at least sedentary warfare which are supplied in the European and Eurasian sections of the community. The authority who has advised that sixty thousand men be added to the British Army in India has somewhat reduced the force of the recommendation by observing that there are unthought-of mines of wealth of fighting material in India, without asking the mother country for a man. It may at least be said that in the mines already open there are veins which have never been worked. We have got together a native army, as loyal and well-disciplined a force as any Empire has in its service, but until we have formed a reserve out of that army it can never be contended that full use has been made of it. It is true that objections to the principle of a native reserve are somewhat widely prevalent in India. But it is equally true that these objections disappear when they are fairly confronted. They may be summed up in the contention that it may not be wise or even safe to constantly pass men through the ranks into the reserve, as this would result in distributing amongst the native community large numbers of men trained to the use of arms, who might be more dangerous than helpful in troublous times. But the objection may be answered from various points of view. We do not, in the first place, believe that the sepoy profits so little by the influence and the associations of service that on leaving the colours and repairing to his village he would carry with him the seeds of disaffection. And even if that were so, the reservists would be scattered over a wide area, they would be without arms, without organization or cohesion, and their power for mischief would be of the smallest. If there is no more formidable objection to a native reserve than this, it ought to be easy to prove the expediency of forming one as soon as possible. Whatever the claims of India upon the mother country in the matter of military defences may be, it would be much easier to gain a hearing for them if first of all the resources nearest at hand had been utilized.

And these resources, it is hardly necessary to point out, are by no means limited to the material which would be available if the organization of the native army were more fully developed. But we have still to look upon the volunteer force in India as the promise of large and beneficent possibilities which have yet to be realized. So long as only twelve thousand out of the seventy thousand Europeans in British India who are capable of bearing arms have enrolled themselves in this force, so long will it be necessary to declare to the majority of our countrymen here that they are falling short of the duty that they owe to themselves and to the Empire. There is little need to indicate how an increase in the strength of the volunteers would increase our strength upon the frontier. A recent calculation estimates at over a hundred thousand that "unused reserve" available for an augmentation of the volunteer force, but inasmuch as this includes elements which are neither European nor Eurasian, it may be as well to leave it out of account. It is to the fifty-eight thousand Europeans and Eurasians who have never carried a rifle that we must first look for the strengthening of the sedentary forces of India. The military authorities have recently had brought to their notice one more of the many schemes that at one time and another have been prepared for

The only men dismissed been sent away for faults or drunken and their places had been filled up of the same class. So far as he there had been no substitution of natives Europeans, and the strength of the working anything, been increased. A fine clear reason that there was no obstruction distant signal to another. A driver to have a train well in hand on approaching distant signal of the next station, and take from it. If it showed danger he should pull p his train outside it. The goods-train was late that occasion because the driver's regular remen did not put in an appearance, and he locomotive foreman had send other men. FROM the Bombay Presidency Season Reports for the week ending Oct. 22, it appears there has been good rain throughout the Deccan and Southern Maratha Country, whereby the standing crops have been much benefited and general prospects greatly improved. Crops were slightly damaged by excessive rain in parts of Ahmedabad, Khandesh, Kolaba, and Ratnagherry, and by rats and insects in parts of Kurrachee. The kharif harvest and rabi sowing are in progress in almost all districts. There is cholera in parts of ten and fever in fifteen districts, small-pox and cattle-disease in a few places.

IN the Government Gazette of yesterday are published the orders made by His Excellency the Governor in Council with regard to the establishment of local boards in the district of Poona. There is to be one local board for each of the talukas of Jumnar, Purandhar, Bhimthadi, Khed, Maral, Sirur, and Indapur, and one for the area consisting of the two talukas of Poona and Haveli, to bear the name of the latter. In each case the number of members nominated exceeds the elective members.

A NOTIFICATION appears in yesterday's Government Gazette inviting members of the Covenanted Civil Service of not less than five years' standing to become candidates for a course of training in an agricultural college in England. The Governor in Council desires to select a junior civilian for the purpose, and the chosen candidate will be granted furlough for thirty months from April next on the ordinary furlough allowances, and in the event of his completing the agricultural course at the institution at which he may be permitted to study, and obtaining a diploma or equivalent certificate of competence, twelve of these thirty months will count as residence in India, and he will be reimbursed his college fees. It is, however, stipulated that the attainment of a diploma shall not give the holder any specific claim to employment in the Agricultural Department on his return to India.

BISHOP CAPROTTI announced on the 12th inst. the Cathedral at Hyderabad Deccan) the approaching doom of the "Padroado" there, on the Malabar Coast, and at Ceylon, Bengal, and Malacca. The papal decree will be put into execution from 1st December next, and within six months the extraordinary jurisdiction which the Archbishop of Goa exercised in British India will disappear for ever. A correspondent, commenting on this, says that the "Padroado" was the last relic of the Portuguese glory in the East, and with its extinction the Portuguese name and language, the latter of which was till now spoken in certain parts of India, will be very soon forgotten. The titles of Archbishop and Primate of the East will be in future empty sounds, and no doubt will be surprised if another Apostolical decree comes out reducing the rank of the present prelate to that of a Bishop of Goa, which will certainly be in keeping with his altered status when shorn of his extraordinary jurisdiction.

THE Lieutenant Governor of Bengal leaves Calcutta to-day for Santhia, in the Beerbhoom Division, and goes on to Suri early to-morrow morning. He remains there during Saturday and Sunday, and on Monday proceeds to Nulhatie, thence journeying in the evening to Burdwan, where he remains till Wednesday as the guest of the Maharaja. Sitarampur will then be visited. Mr. Rivers Thompson remaining there during Thursday, and on Friday going on to Barakur. He is timed to reach Calcutta on his return journey in the early morning of Saturday, November 8. The main object of his journey is, as already stated, to inspect the relief works which have had to be started in the Beerbhoom District.

IT seems to the Englishman was too sanguine in its anticipations that many of the Hindoo members of the Calcutta Corporation would, at the approaching election, be replaced by Europeans and Eurasians. The law itself stands in the way of anyone who might wish to become a candidate. Section 18 of the present Calcutta Municipal Act lays down that any person qualified to be elected as a Commissioner may, at any time, not being less than six weeks or more than three months before the election takes place, apply personally or by letter to the Chairman of the Commissioners for registration of his name. The clause further provides that no person whose name is not entered in such list at the time of election shall be qualified to vote, or be elected as Commissioner. Very few Europeans in Calcutta, it is said, are even aware of these regulations.

SURGEON-MAJOR HENRY ATKINS, who was some time back Civil Surgeon of Baroda, but lately deputed to general duty at Bhooj, has returned with the 25th Regiment, and is now under orders for Surat to assume medical charge of the regimental depôts there. He was liked very much by the natives at Baroda.

ON the recommendation of the military authorities in the Bengal Presidency, the Government of India have sanctioned an arrangement by which officers commanding regiments in Burmah generally are allowed to contract with firms in England for the supply of helmets for the use of their men. The wicker helmets at present supplied to these corps by Government are considered unsuitable for cavalry soldiers, the cork helmets being preferred both for comfort and neatness. No extra expense to the State will be incurred by the new arrangements, as the regiments will merely receive the ordinary rate of compensation for the non-supply of helmets.

CAPTAIN C. HOGG, 32nd Pioneers, proceeds on furlough early in November.

THE 2nd Battalion Northumberland Fusiliers will probably leave Chakrata on the 30th instant, en route to Mean Meer viâ Saharunpore, Umballa, Jullundur, and Umritsur, and will reach its destination on the 3rd December.

THE B. Battery 1st Brigade Scottish Division Fort William, under the command of Captain Plant, had some practice at 5,000 yards with the guns in position at Fort Fultah, some seventeen miles down the river Hooghly, but the practice was not good. A few of the Calcutta Naval Artillery Battery took part in the practice.

THE Government of India approve of the Commander-in-Chief's proposal for the march of No. 7 Battery Northern Division Royal Artillery from Jutogh, viâ Chakrata and Saharunpore, to Umballa, returning to Jutogh viâ Hoshiarpur, Pathankote, Chumba, Dhurmsala, and Kangra. The battery left Jutogh on the 20th instant, and will return about the 3rd March, 1885.

THE 28th and 29th instant having been holidays, advantage was taken by the Calcutta Naval Artillery Battery to have gunnery practice at the artillery range at Jaigerpore, near Barrackpore. The range had been inspected, and was reported in good order.

THE services of Surgeon-Major R. Pringle, M.D., Deputy Sanitary Commissioner, 1st Circle, Punjab, have been placed at the disposal of the Government of India, Home Department.

THE Surgeon-General, of Her Majesty's Forces has issued a circular regarding the issue as a prophylactic of lime-juice and sugar, or amchur, to troops, the former to British soldiers and the latter to natives, except when amchur is not procurable or when the issue of lime-juice is considered desirable by local medical authorities.

A CIRCULAR memorandum has been issued by the Military Department, Fort William, to Officers Commanding Volunteer Corps in India, calling their attention to the rules and orders in the Volunteer Regulations regarding the inspection of all arms in the possession of volunteers. It appears that the annual reports on Volunteer Corps last year brought to light a want of care and attention on the part of volunteers to the state of their rifles.

MAJOR C. D. P. PAYNE, Staff Corps, 2nd in command of the 28th N. I. has been granted one year's furlough to Europe on medical certificate.

MAJOR J. D. MANSELL, Rifle Brigade Aide-de-Camp to Major-General Ross, K. C. B., Commanding Poona Divison, has been granted 106 days leave to Europe on private affairs. Two years furlough to Europe is allowed for a similar reason to Major R. L. Price, Staff Corps, Wing Commander, 25th N. L. I.

THE INDORE LAW-SUIT.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

INDORE, OCT. 27.

THE case of His Highness the Holkar vs. Raghoji Lalchand was continued on the 24th instant. The same counsel as before appeared for the parties.

Jagannath Thavarji, a goldsmith, was examined for the plaintiff.—I know that my father had some jewels with him belonging to the Fanses. Upon demand by the Sarkar in right of the Fanses, they were returned to the Sarkar. The receipt for the same is herewith produced.

Jamphirmal Navidas was next examined.—I knew Rajabhau Fanse. He acted as Dewan for thirteen or fourteen years. I used to go to Rajabhau on business. He was dismissed from the office of Dewan. I don't know the reason. There was an attachment on the Tarana mahal. It belonged to Rajabhau as his jahgir. I do not know what became of Rajabhau's property after his death.

In cross-examination :—the witness was asked whether the firm of Raghoji Lalchand had a good character, which question, upon objection, was disallowed by the court.

In examination by the court, the witness said. —There was a drum beaten in the town, notifying that if anybody had property of Rajabhau with him he should hand it over to the Sarkar. My master's firm of Shaligram Mantri had dealings with Rajabhau Fanse. I know positively that Rajabhau had outstandings with other people; but I don't know their names. I don't remember having seen a written proclamation about Rajabhau's property.

The next witness examined for the plaintiff was Daji Hanmant, a pleader in the Indore court.—I know Rajabhau Fanse. He was a karbhari for ten or fifteen years. In Samvat 1905 or 1906 he was dismissed from the office of Dewan, and sent away to Tarana. I left to go to Rajabhau on my professional business. His office and residence were the same. There was a drum beaten in the town about Rajabhau's property after his death, to the effect that whoever had such property should produce it before the State. I don't remember having seen a written proclamation. I have heard of the attachment of the Tarana mahal.

In cross-examination.—In the notification no mention was made of the debts due by Rajabhau. I do not know in what state Rajabhau lived at Tarana. In the notification no reason was given for the production of Rajabhau's property before the Sarkar.

In re-examination the witness stated that he personally heard the beating of the drum for the production of Rajabhau's property before the Sarkar.

The cross-examination of Khusalchand was next taken up.—As I had friendship with Narayandas and Badridas, and as they were in need of money, I made an attempt twice to reconcile them to His Highness. They requested me to obtain a loan of Rs. 40,000 from His Highness. I suggested to them that unless they settled the claims of His Highness against them on account of Rajabhau Fanse, His Highness would not listen to them. They first offered to pay Rs. 5,000 in satisfaction of His Highness's claim, and afterwards agreed to assign a decree for Rs. 15,000 in settlement of that claim. I suggested that they should pay Rs. 25,000 in settlement of the claim His Highness would not lend them any money. At last they consented to my proposal. I communicated the proposal to His Highness both at Lal Baug and in Buxee's garden. Although His Highness had refused to accept the proposal when I met him at Lal Baug, I thought there was no harm in making a second attempt. So I went to His Highness while in Buxee's garden and saw His Highness, and obtained permission to see Narayandas and Badridas. His Highness said he would not accept the money in that way, because it might be looked upon as a bribe or as nazaranna for the loan, but would receive the amount as a debt that would be justly found due. I suggested to His Highness to appoint a Panch. His Highness accepted the proposal, and asked me to name the Panch. I suggested the names of Sakharam Dada, Nathmal, and myself. His Highness approved of them. Narayandas and Badridas at first did not, but afterwards accepted the Panch named by me. I got a kararnama written from Narayandas and Badridas, and handed it to His Highness afterwards. Narayandas and Badridas were sent to take their food. What was the result of the reference to arbitration I don't know. I had no conversation with any of the Panch regarding the matter. I was sent for by His Highness. There were five, seven or ten people present there. Some papers were shown to the people assembled by the clerks in the presence of His Highness. A certain paper was read, in which differ[illegible] sums were stated for [illegible]ee classes have received from [illegible] Raghoji Lalchand, Shomakhuna[illegible] Sukharona Baidev, and others whose names I don't remember. In Buxee's garden Narayandas and Badridas were kept apart. They did not dine, nor did I. I did not see any handcuffs or chains on the premises, nor near the place where Narayandas and Badridas were.

Re-examined.—I did not ask [illegible] for any food. I don't dine at night.

By the court.—I went to Buxee's garden at 8 p.m., and slept at 11 p.m. I had already taken my food before. I was given a carpet to sleep on. I don't know where they slept. I can't say why Narayandas and Badridas offered to pay Rs. 25,000. They knew their own minds. He explained to me that he had no claim of Rs. 54,000, but where I don't remember. There was an advantage in paying Rs. 55,000, as they would thereby secure their reputation in the market. I did not see Narayandas and Badridas distressed. I did not see them crying. They were talking to me in the ordinary way.

The last witness examined was Jeevanrao Vyankatesh.—I knew Rajabhau Fanse. He was a mookhtiar karbhari. After the present Maharaja had ascended the throne Rajabhau [illegible]ed as karbhari for four or five years. Differe[illegible] arose between the Maharaja and Rajabhau [illegible]ajabhau wanted to exercise authority in opposi[illegible] to the Maharaja. Rajabhau had a jaghir. It was [illegible] like a Sanad. At present there are [illegible] such jaghirs. I am acquainted with Rajabhau's handwriting. I have not seen Rajabhau write the name Rajabhau. The body of the pa[illegible], exhibit D, is in his handwriting. I have often seen him write the word Hevinanti. In exhibit B the word yad and the names of sowkars may have been written by his clerk. In exhibit D the letter ra in the signature looks like Rajabhau's. In exhibits G and H. the ra looks like Rajabhau's.

Cross-examination reserved.

THE BORAHS OF GOGO AND THEIR "HUMAN SACRIFICE."

ON the 3rd instant a fakeer woman entered the town of Gogo, and leaving her son of about 12 in the dharamsala went to the bazaar to make some purchases. On her return the boy was missing. She looked for him everywhere without receiving any satisfactory information. Her loud cries and lamentations brought round her a number of people who informed her that the lad must have been killed by the Borahs as a sacrifice before the grave of their Pir. These charitable informants also suggested that she should lodge her complaint before the magistrate. Accordingly the unhappy woman proceeded to the kutcherry and lodged her case to the chief constable, who called together a panch and commenced a search of all the Borah houses in the town. Of course, this unusual proceeding caused consternation amongst the Borahs. They deputed one of their number to men to point out to the foujdar that the fakeer woman was simply acting at the instigation of some enemies of the Borah community, and that a general search in one instituted would be a slur to the respectable Borah inhabitants. It was also further represented that the story of the sacrifice before the Pir's grave found its origin in the following incident :—Some months ago a party of Borahs were going to the Pir's shrine. They were in carts, when one of the drivers, a boy, who happened to belong to another sect of Mahomedans, fell off his seat and the wheel of the cart passed over his body. The injured boy died while being taken to the foujdar, who sent the body to the civil surgeon doctor for examination. The Memon community, to which the boy belonged, went in a body to the Sirkar and stated that the boy had been killed by the Borahs for the purpose of sacrifice to their Pir. They added that it is the custom of the Borahs to kill a human being once every fifteen years, and that the blood of the victim is carefully preserved. Some rice is cooked in this blood, and on the first festivals a few grains of this preserved rice are put in the big cauldron. On the face of such a statement the doctor found it necessary to hold a post mortem examination of the boy, and found that the ribs had been crushed by the wheel passing over the body. The Memons refused to believe this testimony, and were preparing to take further action, when lo! the missing boy walked up unconcernedly to the spot! He had gone to Bhownuggur on a spree.—Gujerat Mitra.

EURASIAN AND ANGLO-INDIAN ASSOCIATION.

AN extraordinary general meeting of the members of the above association was held on Wednesday afternoon at the Y. M. C. A. rooms, Apollo-bunder. Mr. J. P. Baird in the chair.

Mr. W. J. Essai, the honorary secretary, read a short summary of the progress and working of the association since the last annual general meeting. The statement was to the effect that the Council had much pleasure in reporting the rapid accession of members, and the daily increasing number of applicants to join the association. From 131 members on the 1st January last, they had now just double that number: and from the many letters addressed to that secretary from Europeans and Eurasians at up-country stations, it was encouraging to notice that the time was not far distant when this number would increase to 1,000 or more. Since the 1st January the receipts to date were Rs. 1,938-14-4; and the expenditure, Rs. 491-7-5. They had now to their credit in the bank, Rs. 1,811-5-2; and in the Loan Society, Rs. 500, making a sum total of Rs. 2,311-5-2. There were 16 Council meetings held during the last ten months, and a good deal of business has been transacted. Besides the regular Council meetings, there were several sub-committees formed for the purpose of establishing a provident fund, death benefit fund, and a deposit and loan society. The provident fund had not been joined by any of the members as yet. The death benefit fund had to be thoroughly considered and revised; and it was only a week ago that the rules were printed. Notwithstanding this little delay, it was satisfactory to note that 35 members had already joined the fund. The Deposit and Loan Society had been satisfactorily launched and registered under Act VI of 1882, which provided that the liability of a member was limited to the amount of his share, which in this instance was Rs. 10. Up to the present 356 shares had been already subscribed for. The object of this fund was to give loans to members at a moderate rate of interest, thus keeping them from falling into the hands of the Marwarrees and other usurers. It had been found from experience that once a person was so unfortunate as to fall into the hands of these usurers, it was with the utmost difficulty that he was able to release himself, if he did so at all. The Council had much pleasure to intimate that the first loan was granted about the beginning of this month to a member who was proceeding up-country to take up a better appointment. He was so struck with the usefulness of this society that he returned a few minutes after with a new member for enrolment. The scheme for an industrial institution, proposed by the secretary, was intended to have been brought before the meeting, but as the Council had as yet to discuss certain matters connected with it they had resolved to postpone the scheme for another opportunity. It was to be regretted that Mr. N. Spencer was obliged to resign the presidential chair, owing to pressure of official duties. The Council had elected in his place vice-president Mr. E. Freeborn. The report concluded as follows: "Energy should be the life blood of our young institution, and if instead of self-satisfied sneers, we sometimes were furnished with plain, solid, useful hints on the various sections already introduced, we would very soon mount the rungs of the ladder, attain the goal of our ambition, and proclaim to all India that an established institution is now built on a firm basis, and that institution is called the Eurasian and Anglo-Indian Association of Western India. (Applause.)

On the motion of Mr. J. Gordon, seconded by Mr. R. Farrow, the report was recorded. Resolutions were subsequently adopted, admitting the wives and widows of members as members, and reducing the number of the quorum from eleven to seven members.

VALUE PAYABLE PARCELS POST.

THE following letter has been forwarded by the Bombay Trades' Association to the Secretary to the Government of India, in the Department of Finance and Commerce :—

Sir,—With reference to Government Resolution No. 2979, dated August 22, a copy of which has been furnished to the Bombay Trades' Association for an expression of their opinion on the subject of the extension of the Value-Payable System to parcels posted in England for India, I am directed by the Committee of the Bombay Trades' Association to imform you that a meeting convened by this Association, consisting of the members of the Association and a number of other tradesmen, was held on the 11th October at which the following resolutions were carried unanimously :—

Here follow the resolutions.)

The speakers showed Here follow the resolution that there was no occasion for the re-introduction of the measure, which had been withdrawn seven years ago on account of the opposition shown to it; that that opposition had not been modified in the meantime; that the Inland Value-Payable System, successful as it had undoubtedly been, offered no argument in favour of the extension; that the system if largely used must necessarily tend to injure the business of the Indian tradesman to the advantage of the English tradesman, who had no claim to any consideration, particularly to the detriment of the Indian tradesman who had capital invested, heavy expenses, and contributed largely to the revenues, especially under the head of License Tax, while the English tradesman would reap the benefit without any expense or contribution to the Indian revenue whatever. It was also shown that the system would not benefit the general public, but only a comparatively small class, in fact the higher classes, and these were just the classes of the community from which the Indian tradesman derived great part of his business. Further, that there was no necessity for the measure, as there were already ample facilities for procuring goods from England in the shape of private agencies, Parcel Post, and Overland Money Orders; moreover, that European goods of all kinds could now, owing to competition, be obtained in Bombay almost if not quite as cheaply as they can be imported by private importers, and that the measure was so little needed and would be used by such a comparatively small class, that to bring it into operation would be nothing short of a wanton injury inflicted on a considerable and important class of the community who contributed largely to the revenues, and whose support could hardly be a matter of indifference to Government—this injury being inflicted to confer a doubtful benefit on a comparatively small class of the community of India, and a certain gratuitous benefit to the English tradesman who had no claim to it. It was also shown by speakers at the meeting that the proposal was in opposition to the Government policy of encouraging private enterprise and local industries, and would tend to retard progress in that respect;—it hardly needs demonstration that the proposal goes directly in the face of orders stopping work in jails because such work interferes with private enterprise, and of repeated instructions that all goods which can possibly be manufactured in India are to be bought in India. A memorial signed by a large number of Bombay tradesmen will shortly be forwarded, protesting strongly against the proposal, and in the meantime the Committee have to point out that the Press generally has already spoken in condemnation of it. The Committee also desire to say, with reference to para. 5 of the Resolution under reply, that as to the letter of the Committee of the Bombay Trades' Association, dated 19th June, 1878, from which a sentence is quoted in favour of the proposal, the whole tenor of that letter was strongly against the proposal, and that the sentence in question as to reciprocity was not clear,—it was intended to emphasize the fact that there could be no reciprocity, and that the Committee would have been more inclined to look with favour upon the proposal if the impossible were possible—the present Committee and members hold that as for every parcel that would go from India to England under such a system, 100 would come the other way;—this point needs no discussion, and in any case the other arguments against the measure are in no way affected by it. In conclusion the Committee can only hope that what they cannot but consider the ill-judged and unnecessary re-introduction of this proposition may be withdrawn,—I am, sir,

W. J FARROW.
Secretary of the Bombay Trades' Association.

The following memorial is now being circulated among the tradespeople of Bombay, Poona, and elsewhere for signature.

To the Most Honorable the Marquis of Ripon, G., P.C., G.C.B., &c., &c., Viceroy and Governor-General of India, &c., &c.,

The Respectful Memorial of the Members of the Bombay Trades' Association and others trading in Bombay,

Sheweth,—That your Excellency's Government has lately, in a Resolution No. 2979, dated August 22nd, 1884, renewed a proposition originally made seven years ago to extend the Value-Payable Post to parcels posted in England for India, which original proposal was abandoned in 1879 on account of the strong opposition it had evoked from the Trades interested and from the Press. Your memorialists respectfully urge that none of the reasons then shown against the measure have lost any of their force, and that there is no reason or necessity for now reproducing it. The Resolution of your Excellency's Government states that it is believed that the opposition formerly shown may prove to have now been modified, but the contrary has already been demonstrated by the opinions of the Trades' Associations and of the Press. The success of the Inland Value-Payable system, which is undoubted, your Memorialists submit is no argument in favour of the extension, inasmuch as one of the parties to the former, the Indian tradesman, is altogether excluded from participation in the extension and his place is filled by the
